Call for Democratic Congressional Committee Meeting for the 13th District of Missouri.

Shoot the bunko steerer!

THE year 1894 will be remembered as the year of Cuckoo St. Barththolo-

WHAT difference does it make if we are a little short on principle, if we have plenty of "harmony?"

THE demand for fig-leaves on the part of the congressmen who have deserted their constituents is extremely

To Congress: Please pass the remnants of the Wilson bill if possible, and go home; but go home-for God's sake, go home!

So, then, there is a clique to torce bond issues, is there? 'The Republic makes this confession rather late, but, better late than never.

WE understand, from the esteemed Republic, that admiration for Mr. Cleveland by Democrats of the West becomes more profound every day.

DEMOCRATS must not relax vigilance for a single moment in this state, from now till sundown on the day of election. If the administration is endorsed, or our congressmen feebly commended, we lose, through apathy of the rural voters. If, on the other hand, the administration is condemned, we must look out that no treachery is hatched within our ranks. We must have no repetition of the Ohio campaign of '91 in this state.

TARIFF REFORM has been smothered, but you must say nothing about it in the interest of "harmony." Silver has been turned into a liability, and added to the nation's debt; but, for God's sake, don't say a word, for it, will endanger "harmony!" The Democratic platform has been spurned with contempt by the servants it placed in power, but it must not be mentioned; for, if the people should find it out, "harmony" would be imperilled. Let's be harmonious.

THE Eastern Contingent of the Democratic party has declared against Tariff Reform and against the Free Coinage of Silver; the Western Democracy are violently in favor of both of these measures. The differences are vital. It will be found that there is no cement with adhesive powers sufficient to hold these two divergent sections together. The quicker the end comes get back to first principles, regardless of the wishes of any man or set of HENRY WATERSON'S Star-Eyed Goddees of Reform was a real nice-looking girl. She was clean and sweet; the kind of a goddess to capture the heart of every old-fashioned Democrat; but in an evil moment John Griffin Carlisle persuaded Henry to exhibit her charms on Wall street. The result might have been foreseen. Henry's goddess now labors under suspicion of having, while sojourning there, became a Soiled Dove, and Henry has a right of action against his friend Carlisle for a very much damaged God-

REPUBLICANS say to the Democrats: "You promised Free Coinage of Silver, and now your administration has administration as Democratic; get to- dollars, too." This chunk of Political

The Veto.

The veto of the seigniorage bill was not a bad thing. It clears up the situation and makes plain to any man of | average intelligence what the REGISTER has contended for all along: that it was the design of the plutocracy to force more bonds and force silver out of use as a money of final payment. The seigniorage bill would have put several million more dollars of silver, redeemable in gold, ultimately, into circulation, and it would have given those gentleman who have played cuckoo to the White House an opportunity to point to the seigniorage bill as a redemption of their pledge to do some thing for silver, while they knew that they had helped bring us to the gold standard. The vote of the bill leaves these gentlemen nothing to hide behind. It exposes them naked to their constituents.

The message of Mr. Cleveland adds has succeeded in discovering no new argument, but the Wall street scheme

"I am not insensible to the arguseigniorage now in the treasury, and I believe it could be done safely and with advantage if the Secretary of the Treasury had power to issue bonds at a low rate of interest;" etc.

Less Denunciatory.
